

Data Center Migration & Transformation

Smooth Data Center Transition

Challenges

Data centers are the heart of the business' IT operations. Frequently data centers grow faster than businesses are able to keep track. Moving or growing a data center can easily uncover vulnerabilities, risks and operational pain points for your business. Not knowing how your infrastructure connects, how it interacts with customers and business operations is a very real risk. With the Data Center Migration & Transformation (DCMT) solution, Configure Consulting can map out your current data center operation, and help you plan for growth, moves, and other changes while mitigating that risk.

The DCMT Opportunity

The Data Center Migration & Transformation solution provides configuration analysis, agentless infrastructure discovery, topology mapping, data center migration planning, and risk identification. By providing this level of data, the business can make well informed decisions around data center transformation and visualize an "actual state" without the need for manually maintained data.

The DCMT Value

The DCMT solution mitigates risks associated with data center moves, ensures business critical operations continue smoothly during a data center transition, and identifies dependencies that should be considered prior to the transition.

The DCMT Implementation

The DCMT solution can be deployed in several ways that best meet client's needs, including flexible licensing and an array of options based on your organization's requirements.

- DCMT Foundation: 30-day quick-start package. Discovery of network environment and identification of critical hosts.
- DCMT Dependency: 6-8 week dependency mapping including 5-10 application maps and asset reporting in addition to the discovery of network environment.
- DCMT Sphere: End-to-end discovery, application mapping, change history tracking, custom reporting, application to application dependency mapping, and knowledge transfer.

For more information about the Data Center Migration & Transformation solution please contact us at 1-800-987-8460 or send an email to info@configureconsulting.com and one of our DCMT experts will reach out to you.